

Rolling Sound Lamp

wishing the lamp can keep people company and bring them warmth

The inspiration for this site-specific art comes from an experience of watching a variety show. The old lady living alone in the show said that she would turn on the TV 24 hours a day. This reminds me that when I was a child, I often found that my grandparents would fall asleep on the sofa at home with TV on.
By searching the answers on the Internet, the main reasons for turning on TV when sleeping are: anxiety, insecurity, alone, loneliness

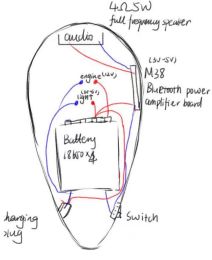

Sketches

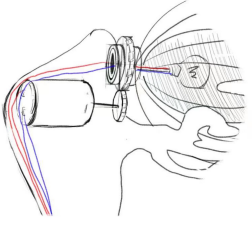

Initially, the upper and lower part were planned to connects by four ropes. However, it's difficult to achive by human brains, so the model changed later on.

The connections of wires

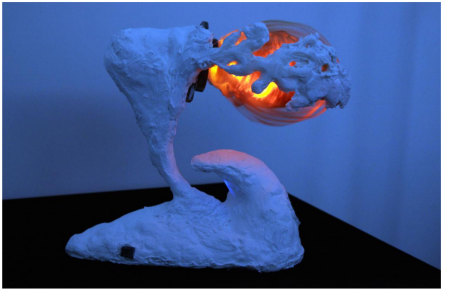

The batteries are custom made.
It can support audio, M38, and the light ball which require 3-5v and the engine which require 12v at the same time.

The shaft suit

It can prevent the light from rotating and the baboon cane sphere and the lamshade can still rotating.
